

Brenda Tudor

Fiduciary Officer

Brenda Tudor joined Peak Trust Company in 2020 as a Fiduciary Officer, bringing over 30 years of financial services expertise to the role. She worked extensively in the Alaskan banking and wealth management industry prior to focusing the past 21 years specifically on trust and estate administration. In her trust administration role, Brenda administers Descendants Trusts, Perpetual Family Trusts, Special Needs Trusts, Domestic Asset Protection Trusts and other estate planning instruments. She has served as personal representative for numerous estates over her career.

Brenda takes pride in administering plans tailored to multi-generational clients and developing lifelong relationships with account holders. Her fiduciary responsibilities include investment and distribution guidance, trust modifications, asset processing, account reviews and coordinating with external partners to achieve client goals.

Well-known in Alaska's estate planning circles, Brenda remains actively engaged – currently serving on the Anchorage Estate Planning Council board and as Vice-Chair of the Anchorage Senior Activity Center Endowment Trust. Previously, Brenda held membership in the Alaska Government Finance Officers Association. Brenda leverages her comprehensive financial acumen and personal approach to fiduciary administration to provide exemplary service levels and smooth operations for Peak Trust Company clients.
